

S. L. GIRLS TO HIKE UP CANYON

Sixty Students Will Come to Ogden for Trip to Famous Gorge

More than sixty girl students of the East High school of Salt Lake will participate in a hike up Ogden canyon next Saturday, according to information which reached here this morning. The girls, who are members of the hiking club, will make the trip under the direction of Miss Charlotte Stewart, supervisor of girl's athletics at the East High, and Miss Eva Park, her associate.

The girls will leave early Saturday morning on the Bamberger electric to Ogden, from where they will set out immediately for Ogden canyon. They will go as far up the canyon as the Hermitage. Here they will stay until evening, and they have planned to cook "wienies" and toast marshmallows around a campfire until after dark. They will spend the night at the Hermitage and will return to Salt Lake about noon Sunday.

This is the first year the girls of the East high school have had a hiking club. It was formed about eight weeks ago and Miss Kathleen Harms was chosen president, Miss Mary Neel was elected vice-president and the executive committee includes Miss Regina West, Miss Josephine Ritter and Miss Josephine Smith.

The girls have already made hikes up Cottonwood canyon, Centerville canyon and over the hills north of Salt Lake into City Creek canyon. More trips are planned before the close of school in June, including hikes up Emigration canyon and to Brighton.

German Relatives Inquire After Girl

Communications from Germany have been received by the home service bureau of the Red Cross, relatives of Marguerite Losch, who came to Ogden prior to the war, having written to determine where Miss Losch is located.

The translation of the letter, which was written in German script, says that Miss Losch came to Ogden as a Latter Day Saint convert before America's entrance into the war. Since that time they have received no communications from her and the Red Cross is now making an effort to locate the girl.

MORE SUGAR OF PEDIGREE BEETS

Lack of Importation of Elite Seed of the Red Root Is Deplored

It is time for the American beet to have a pedigree, according to the opinion of sugar chemists. The falling off of the importation of pedigreed beet seed as a result of the European war has kept back the American beet sugar industry, which had been depending for seed upon France, Russia and Germany.

The success in the deriving of sugar from the European beet has been due largely to selecting for propagation those roots which yielded the largest percentage of these sweet constituent. Beets blossom and develop seeds in the second year of their growth. Experts are now studying their shape and appearance approximately the amount of sugar which they will yield. Chemists also make diagonal borings in the selected roots and estimate the percentage of sugar by analyzing the samples.

After the berries are removed, the roots are plugged and the beet is planted in the spring. The seeds grown from this selected or "elite" beet, as it is called, are then sown, and become the means of producing roots of high sugar content.

A member of the Sugar Section of the American Chemical Society said in New York, that the American sugar beet industry would be greatly benefited if more time and expense were devoted to the very important subject of developing a high class pedigreed seed along these lines. "Ultimately," he continued, "the success of the American beet sugar industry will depend upon how far it can be protected during its formative state by suitable legislation. The sugar beet is a very valuable vegetable and its cultivation should be encouraged on a large scale. After it has yielded its percentage of sugar, there remains some of the molasses and also the pulp, which is an excellent cattle food. If a suitable arrangement could be made with the railroads, this pulp could be returned to the farmers at a moderate price, or on a rebate basis."

Reports from the west show that several new beet factories are being built and that the industry which may serve as a check on the price of cane sugar, is recovering from the depression which it underwent on account of the war.

who do die under it realize the destination they have.

Throw Away Tradition
"There is distinction in the privilege and I for my part am sorry to play so peaceful a part in the business as I myself am obliged to play, and I conceive it a privilege to come and look at you men who have the other thing to do and ask you to come and tell me * * * how this thing can be better done; and we will thank God that we have got men of origination brains among us."

"We have got to throw tradition to the wind."

"As I have said, gentlemen, I take it for granted that nothing that I say here will be repeated and therefore I am going to say this: Every time we have suggested anything to the British admiralty the reply has come back that it had never been done that way. I felt like saying 'Well, nothing is being done now.' Therefore, I should like to see something unusual happen, something that was never done before, don't you think it is worth while to try something that was never done before against those who are doing them to you?"

No Other Way

"There is no other way to win. * * * America is the prize amateur nation of the world. Germany is the prize professional nation of the world. Now, when it comes to doing new things and doing them well, I will back the amateur against the professional every time. He knows so little about it that he is fool enough to try the right thing. The men that do not know the danger are the rashest men."

"Please leave out of your vocabulary altogether the word 'prudent.' * * * Do the thing that is audacious to the utmost point of risk and daring, because that is exactly the thing that the other side does not understand."

"I think that there are willing ears to hear this in the American navy and the American army because that is the kind of folks we are. We get tired of the old ways and covet the new ones."

Is Not Discouraged
"I am not discouraged for a moment, particularly because I have not even begun and, without saying anything in disparagement of those with whom we are associated in the war, I do expect things to begin when we begin. If they do not American history will have changed its course; the American army and navy will have changed their character. There will have to come a new tradition into a service which does not do new and audacious and successful things."

McCumber Says Knox Plan Dishonor

the war, including German property and American claims would be left unsettled by a declaration of peace, Senator McCumber declared.

"I recognize that the president is more responsible than any one man for the failure to enter into a common treaty. He knew that the senate had a right to make reservations. He should have accepted them and our allies would have adopted them. We refused to join the allies in consummating this agreement but while we seek to compel Germany to assure us all of the benefits and all of the rights which would accrue to us, we decline to accept any of the responsibilities of the treaty."

JAP- RUSS NEUTRAL ZONE IN EAST SIBERIA

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A neutral zone between the Japanese and Russian troops in eastern Siberia is being arranged by the military commanders on both sides, although there is no intention of erecting a buffer state or of taking any action that would amount to political recognition of the soviet government by Japan, according to advices to the Japanese embassy.

To preserve order in the zone it is planned to establish a Russian police force while Japanese troops will maintain their stations along the railroads.

HE VALUES IT AT MORE THAN BIG FORTUNE

Power Gains Eighteen Pounds—Rheumatism Disappears After Taking Tanlac

"What Tanlac has done for me is worth more than a fortune," said George Pover, of 20½ Rottenberg street, a life-long resident of Halifax, Nova Scotia, and well known employee of the Nova Scotia Tram and Power Co. "I have gained eighteen pounds and feel better than for twenty-eight long years," he continued.

"I don't believe anybody in the world suffered from rheumatism as bad as I did. It was a sharp, shooting pain that would go through my knees, down my legs and into my ankles just like somebody was sticking a knife through— I couldn't work at all in damp weather and suffered so intensely I would turn white as a sheet. When the attacks came on I wouldn't be able to sleep a wink, my joint would swell and my knees would get stiff as boards and I wouldn't be able to walk for two or three days at a time—just lay up in bed flat on my back."

"Tanalac was so highly recommended by people right here in Halifax that I tried it and now I wouldn't take anything in the world for the good it has done me. My rheumatism is entirely gone, my appetite has picked up, too, and I sleep fine ever night, and feel like a different person. Tanlac is the greatest thing I have ever seen and I want to let everybody know what this wonderful medicine will do."
